MUCH BUSINESS BEFORE COUNCIL

Town Council Hears Important Matters and Takes Action. Try to Avoid Delay on New Building. More Uniform Curbs.

The town council at its regular October meeting Tuesday evening had up for discussion and action a number of very important matters, all of which were disposed of before the close of the session.

George M. Deatrick, of Chambersburg, government inspector, and Colonel E. B. Cope appeared before council regarding the grade at the new federal building site. Mr. Deatrick pointing out to council that the grade, as changed since the original report from the Pratt survey had been made to Washington by Colonel Cope, would necessitate changes in the architect's plans and the construction of the building which would involve extra expense and create a necessity for an additional appropriation. He urged council to adjust matters so that this would not be necessary and so that work could be hurried along. With grade matters unsatisfactory to the Washington office Mr. Deatrick said that the foundation work would be delayed until spring instead of being taken up this fall.

Council determined upon a compromise grade which it is believed will meet all requirements of the government architect and at the same time not injure streets, pavements or drainage in that part of town. If this is satisfactory at Washington the work at the building will be pushed ahead rapidly.

J. L. Williams, Esq., brought before council a long standing claim for damages which is held by David McGuigan, of Chambersburg street, on account of the building of the sewer through his land. Mr. McGuigan was given a bond of $300 by Council when the sewer was built in order to guarantee him reasonable settlement. The matter has never been closed and Messrs. Armor, Koch and Shealer were appointed to reach an adjustment and report to council. It is said that Mr. McGuigan was at one time offered $30.00 but refused settlement on that basis.

Council took preliminary action looking toward the building of concrete curbs on both sides of the first square on York street, on both sides of East Middle street extended from Liberty to Culp street, and on the south side of West Middle street from the alley in the rear of the Court House to South Washington street.

The East Middle street alley matter was again taken up and it was decided that a bond of indemnity be filed and Council go ahead with the work of having the alley opened across East Confederate avenue.

Mr. Butt reported for the committee having in charge the matter of the grade at the Danner Buehler property on East Middle street extended that the street near the avenue should be lowered as much as possible in view of present conditions and that Mr. Buehler be instructed to build a pavement and gutter so as to control the water on that street. Mr. Butt's report was adopted.

A petition from a number of residents on Baltimore Hill and nearby was read asking that a suitable water course be given at the crossing between the Episcopal church and the residence of Dr. J. P. Dalbey. The report was granted and the matter given to the Highway Committee.

S. H. Buehler asked that a T-shaped light be placed on Carlisle street half way between Stevens and Water streets. Request granted.

Burgess Holtzworth reported collections of $41.75 and Market Master Miller collections of $31.40.

GLIDDEN TOUR COMING SUNDAY

Big Automobile Tour with Several Hundred People will Arrive in Gettysburg Sunday Afternoon, October 15.

Between seventy and eighty cars with 250 or 300 passengers are expected in the big Glidden automobile tour which will arrive in Gettysburg on Sunday evening, October 15 to be here over night before proceeding on their way south.

The members of the tour will stop at the Eagle Hotel and Hotel Gettysburg and it is likely that their cars will be parked in Centre Square as has been the custom in other years. The tour comes here on the second day of its 1456 mile run from New York City to Jacksonville, Florida, and from Gettysburg goes on with Staunton, Virginia as its third day's control.

As was announced some time ago Governor Hoke Smith of Georgia will be with the run and, as he is extending invitations to the governors of all the states to accompany him through their own states Gov. Iener may be with the tour when it reaches Gettysburg Sunday afternoon about five o'clock.

This is the third year for a run between New York and Atlanta to come through Gettysburg, this being on the route of the national highway from North to South. The run this year, however, is extended on to Jacksonville and is a combination of the customary Glidden tour and the New York Herald-Atlanta Journal run.

DEDICATE GIFT LIBRARY

The Young Memorial Library building was dedicated at Hanover Tuesday, the gift of Howard E. Young and wife as a memorial to their son, Edward Etzler Young, who was born on the site of the building.

Judge Charles H. Heuser, of Baltimore, made the presentation address. Chief Burgess John A. Stealy accepted the gift and transferred the care of the library to the governing board. An address was also delivered by Thomas L. L. Montgomery, State Librarian and secretary of the Pennsylvania Free Library Association. Miss Roberta Glanville, of Baltimore, sang several solos.

The library building is located on Carlisle street facing Union Station plaza and cost $60,000. In the vestibule are handsome tablets to the memory of Dr. J. P. Smith and George Metzger, whose bequests of $30,000 will maintain the library.

The library opens with 5000 volumes, the Higbee Library, given by the School Board, and the library given by St. Mark's Lutheran Church, forming the nucleus. The librarian is Miss Mabel L. Champlin, of New York.

AUTO CLUB MEETING

The Gettysburg Automobile Club on Tuesday evening ratified the action of the citizens' meeting held last week when it was decided to endeavor to secure repairs to the York pike before winter. The committee appointed at that time has been in touch with Mr. Bigelow and will go to Harrisburg to see him as soon as the Commissioner of Highways returns to Harrisburg from his trip through the western part of the state.

The Automobile Club at their meeting Tuesday evening decided to show the Glidden tourists some attention at the time of their visit here on Sunday, October 15 and a committee was appointed to consider the best manner of doing this. The committee consists of Charles S. Duncan, J. Edward McCammon, Dr. E. H. Markley, W. F. Gilliland and John W. Brehm.

HORSE'S KICK PROVES FATAL

Sylvan Hess Dies at His Home in Franklin County from Injury. Has Relatives here. Mrs. Welty Dies in East Berlin.

SYLVAN HESS

Sylvan Hess, died on Tuesday afternoon at 1:35 o'clock at his home near Ringgold, Franklin County, from injuries caused by the kick of a horse on Friday. He was a cousin of Mrs. Wilson W. Krebs and Mrs. F. M. Patterson, of Gettysburg and was aged 20 years, 10 months and 18 days.

Mr. Hess was in the stable at his home and was about to put the harness on the animal. In trying to make the horse move he slapped it with his hand. The horse began to kick and struck Mr. Hess square in the face, making an ugly wound.

The injured man was taken to his home. He was not rendered unconscious but sustained several ugly gashes. He was kicked twice by the animal and his skull was probably fractured. He retained consciousness until noon Tuesday.

Sylvan Hess was the son of John W. Hess, who lives at Ringgold and owns a store in Rouzerville. He was a young man of excellent character.

He is survived by his parents and these brothers and sisters: Joseph Hess, Washington township; Herman Hess, Roadside; Miss Nettie Hess, who conducts the Rouzerville store; Arthur, Allen and Rhoda Hess at home.

Funeral Thursday 2 p. m. in Ringgold River Brethren church. Interment in cemetery adjoining.

MRS. ANNA WILEY

Mrs. Anna Wiley, widow of the late Michael Wiley, died suddenly on Monday, October 2, at 3:30 p. m., at the home of her son Reuben Wiley, in East Berlin, from a paralytic stroke. She was aged 73 years.

She leaves eight daughters and one son: Mrs. David Mummert, Mrs. C. P. Kenney, Mrs. Daniel Wagner and Reuben Wiley, of East Berlin; Mrs. E. R. Owen, Mrs. J. J. Bowser, Mrs. James P. Lehman, of York; Mrs. Wilson Baker, of Biglerville, and Mrs. John Rohrbaugh, of Hanover.

Funeral at Mummert's meeting house Thursday, October 5, at 9 a. m. Rev. C. L. Baker, of near East Berlin, officiating.

MR. BARKDOLL SAVED HOTEL

By the prompt action of William Barkdoll, formerly proprietor of the Globe Hotel in Gettysburg and now proprietor of the National hotel, in Greenocastle, a serious fire was averted on Sunday Mr. Barkdoll, for the comfort of his guests, had made fire in the furnace. After starting the fire he took an old broom and dusted off the flues. The broom caught fire. After he thought he had put out the flames he placed the broom beside a coal bin, holding a carload of coal. The posts of this bin run up to the floor of the hotel. At nine o'clock in the evening Mr. Barkdoll went to the cellar to bank the fire for the night and was amazed to find it filled with smoke. He returned to the lobby and asked A. L. Zimmerman to accompany him to the cellar to investigate. They discovered one of the posts almost consumed and the pine boards of the first floor just about to blaze. His timely discovery saved his hotel from probable destruction.

TO INSTALL NEW MINISTER

The Carlisle Presbytery, through representatives, will this evening install Rev. Frank E. Taylor as pastor of the Presbyterian Church. The Moderator of Presbytery, Rev. Edwin M. Mulock, of Paxtang, will preside; Rev. Charles Dalzell will preach; Rev. D. W. Woods will charge the pastor; and Rev. Joseph B. Baker will address the congregation. The meeting will be held in the church at 7 o'clock this evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present.

OFFICIALS TO VISIT TOWN

Western Maryland Officials with Pittsburg and Lake Erie Men will Pay Visit to Gettysburg on Tour of Inspection.

Officials of the Western Maryland railroad are at present planning to entertain a number of the officers of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie Railroad company in a trip over the Western Maryland system. The trip is scheduled for some time within the next two weeks and the party will possibly be in Gettysburg for a short time. The Baltimore terminal of the road will be inspected.

The Pittsburg and Lake Erie is a subsidiary branch of the New York Central lines, the latter having recently entered into a traffic agreement with the Western Maryland. Its officials desire to become acquainted with the Western Maryland system, which is to become the seaboard outlet for the larger company.

The inspection trip was arranged by General Manager J. A. Shephard and Freight Traffic Manager J. T. Hendricks of the Western Maryland, who made a trip over the Pittsburg and Lake Erie lines, including the Pittsburg terminal, last week with the operating officials of that road. The Western Maryland officials were anxious to extend the same courtesy to their hosts and the invitation was accepted by the Pittsburg and Lake Erie men, the tour being set down for early in October.

Messrs. Shephard and Hendricks have returned to Baltimore from their trip and are highly pleased with the treatment accorded them. They look forward to a big increase in business as a result of the agreement. Mr. Shephard stated that many stops had been made at the principal points along the Pittsburg and Lake Erie and that he had gained a much better knowledge of the vast amount of business carried over that road. He stated that he cannot possibly give figures on the amount of freight that will result from the agreement, but knows that it will be large.

GROFT-NUNEMAKER

Miss Carrie Nunemaker, eldest daughter of Mrs. Jennie and the late C. B. Nunemaker, of Hanover, was married at a nuptial high mass at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning to George Groft, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al. Groft, of Centennial.

The wedding was solemnized in St. Vincent's Church, Midway, Rev. J. C. Huber officiating, in the absence of Rev. Francis J. Welsh. The ring ceremony was used. The couple were attended by Clarence Nunemaker, a brother of the bride, and Miss Marine Groft, sister of the groom.

The groom is a cigarmaker by trade and is employed at Centennial. Mr. and Mrs. Groft will go to housekeeping at Centennial in the spring. In the meantime they will make their home with their parents.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride, which was largely attended. The guests from a distance were: Mrs. H. B. Keifer, Lancaster; Mrs. D. B. Martin, Miss Hazel Martin, Mrs. S. K. Hostetter, Charmian, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Nunemaker, Gettysburg; Mrs. Ed. Kuhn and daughter, New Oxford; Misses Edna, Ida and Annie Basehoar, Miss Bessie and Zacharias Anders, Littlestown; Earl Brady, Edge Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sanders, Misses Grace, Gertie, Stella and Albert and Benjamin Groft, of Mt. Rock.

NATIVE AFRICAN TO LECTURE

YORK FAIR OPENS

With an aggregate of 7,895 exhibits in all departments, the fifty fourth annual exhibition of the York County Agricultural Society was opened to the public Tuesday morning. It is estimated that 6,000 visitors passed through the various inlet gates to view the exhibition. This includes children of the public schools who were admitted free. The attendance was smaller than the usual Tuesday crowd.

While the weather was clear, it was not without its threats, and it caused some anxiety to the officials of the fair. An east wind swept over the enclosure during the entire day and as the afternoon advanced the overhead aspect became somewhat sultry.

Because of the unfavorable weather conditions, La Van, the aviator engaged to give exhibitions as a special feature, did not venture a flight in his biplane. Strong upper air currents would have rendered a flight of great risk. Many persons paid to see the biplane, which is in a tent near the main entrance.

ZARGER-FROMMEYER

Shirley James Zarger, city editor of Chambersburg Valley Spirit, and at one time editor of The Gettysburg Times, and Miss Mary Alice Frommeyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus C. Frommeyer, of near Stoufferstown, were married at 9 a. m. Tuesday in the parsonage of Corpus Christi Catholic church by the Very Rev. F. C. Noel. The attendants were the bride's sister, Miss Grace Frommeyer, and David L. Greenawalt, and there were no witnesses. Following the quiet ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Zarger left for a honeymoon tour of a brief period and on their return they will go to house keeping in their own newly built and furnished home in Stoufferstown. They will be at home after December 1st.

REED SENTENCED

William Reed, convicted of the murder of Sara C. Mathna at the Pennsylvania Forestry Academy at Mont Alto, on May 9, was on Tuesday in Franklin County court sentenced to be hanged. Judge Gillan before sentencing Reed denied motions for a new trial and for an arrest of judgment.

Whether or not the case will be appealed and, failing in that, taken to the Board of Pardons, is not stated.

FOOT BALL

The next game of the college foot ball team will be with Pennsylvania State on Beaver Field, State College. It will be played Saturday and is expected to be one of the hardest games of the season. Beagle and Keller have returned to the team after being out of the game for some time and another good showing is expected.

CAPTAIN PETER HAINS.

Slayer of W. E. Annis Pardoned
by Governor Dix.

CAPT. HAINS LEAVES PRISON

Army Officer Who Killed William E.

Annis, Released From Sing Sing.

Ossining, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Peter C.

Hains, Jr., who shot and killed William E. Annis from the float of the Bayside Yacht club in Queens county, and who was pardoned by Governor

Dix, left Sing Sing prison.

Accompanied by his father, General

Peter C. Hains, U. S. A., retired, he took a train for New York city. Hains' pardon was brought about mainly by the tireless efforts of his aged father.

What finally caused the governor to act, however, was a petition signed by all the jurymen who found him guilty of manslaughter. His sentence was not less than eight nor more than sixteen years.

At one point in his speech the president

was discussing the public domain in general terms.

"Who owns the public domain, Mr.

President?" shouted an old man sitting just under the platform.

"The United States owns the public lands," repeated Mr. Taft, showing some heat, "and the United States is the people of the United States."

The president said he knew that he was in a peculiar position, since the convention had already reached its verdict with respect to public lands.

"I know," said Mr. Taft, "how irritating it is to have somebody else lay down rules for your moral uplift, but

you've got to stand a great deal in order to make progress. I will end as

I began. I am not in agreement with your verdict."

President Taft pleaded for concessions on the part of the convention

and suggested that, when men were sent to Washington to argue with congressional committees about subjects

affecting the public lands and the policy of conservation, they should not be tied with strings so they could have

no leeway.

The president said that the discussion of conservation, at least east of the Missouri river, had not reached a stage where points of difference were

looked at calmly and dispassionately.

From the mistakes of the past, he said, the country would now learn to

go about saving its natural resources

in the best way possible and with the best results.

Mr. Taft admitted that in the old days public land had been grabbed in many instances by corporations and combinations; and declared that to prevent a repetition of such grabbing

was the work of the present and the future.

While the west, he said, might fret

under a system that seemed slow, in

the end it would prove the best.

"We may 'kick' against the situation as it is, but you are philosophers

out here in the west and knocking

against the brakes does not help you.

It does not help a bit. Certain of us

can stand it and have got to the point

where it is a normal condition."

This, said, directed apparently at

himself, appealed to the audience and

laughter quickly spread through the hall. The president explained that he did not desire, through a federal leasing system of public lands, to fill the

treasury with funds that should be

there unused, but pointed out that filling the treasury would aid the west in getting appropriations in the future.

"I'm president of the whole country," he said, "and what I am trying to do is to get you together. It is not anything or getting on that counts. It is real development that counts."

"Your proposition is that the leasing system won't bring capital to the west, and my proposition is that it will. I am appealing against your de-

ree."

TAFT FIRES SHOT AT LAND PROBLEM

Gives His Views on Conservation at Denver.

WOULD STOP ALL GRABS

Emphatically Tells Advocate of State Ownership That the Whole People
Own the Public Domain.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 4.—President Taft "laid down the law" on public lands here before an audience of nearly 11,000 persons, and he laid it down in vigorous fashion.

The nation's chief executive was well received despite the fact that his views, as expressed, were diametrically opposed to those ratified by the public lands commission. It was before that convention that the president was speaking, but that did not prevent him from saying what he thought.

When he made some of his points in favor of barring public lands and against the proposal of the convention that either public lands be disposed of to individuals or else placed under the care of the separate states, the crowd applauded vigorously. When he finished the cheering was long and loud.

At one point in his speech the president
was discussing the public do-

main in general terms.

"Who owns the public domain, Mr.

President?" shouted an old man sitting just under the platform.

"The United States owns the public

lands," repeated Mr. Taft, showing

some heat, "and the United States is

the people of the United States."

The president said he knew that he

was in a peculiar position, since the

convention had already reached its

verdict with respect to public lands.

"I know," said Mr. Taft, "how irritating it is to have somebody else lay

down rules for your moral uplift, but

you've got to stand a great deal in order to make progress. I will end as

I began. I am not in agreement with

your verdict."

President Taft pleaded for concessions on the part of the convention

and suggested that, when men were

sent to Washington to argue with congressional committees about subjects

affecting the public lands and the policy of conservation, they should not be tied with strings so they could have

no leeway.

The president said that the discussion of conservation, at least east of

the Missouri river, had not reached a

stage where points of difference were

looked at calmly and dispassionately.

From the mistakes of the past, he

said, the country would now learn to

go about saving its natural resources

in the best way possible and with the

best results.

Mr. Taft admitted that in the old

days public land had been grabbed in

many instances by corporations and

combinations; and declared that to

prevent a repetition of such grabbing

was the work of the present and the future.

While the west, he said, might fret

under a system that seemed slow, in

the end it would prove the best.

"We may 'kick' against the situation as it is, but you are philosophers

out here in the west and knocking

against the brakes does not help you.

It does not help a bit. Certain of us

can stand it and have got to the point

where it is a normal condition."

This, said, directed apparently at

himself, appealed to the audience and

laughter quickly spread through the hall. The president explained that he did not desire, through a federal leasing system of public lands, to fill the

treasury with funds that should be

ing the treasury would aid the west in

getting appropriations in the future.

"I'm president of the whole country," he said, "and what I am trying to do is to get you together. It is not anything or getting on that counts. It

is real development that counts."

"Your proposition is that the leasing system won't bring capital to the

west, and my proposition is that it will. I am appealing against your de-

ree."

Mr. Taft spoke highly of the work of Secretary of the Interior Fisher, who, he said, "has all the energy and steam that Chicago furnishes a man," and who, he contended, had even a reasonable understanding and an appreciation of the needs of the west that were bound to bring good results.

MAKING SHOT.

The Tower Process Used Only For the Smaller Sizes.

The tower process of making shot was invented by William Watts, a plumber of Bristol, England, in 1769. His tower was "built" by sawing a square hole in the center of the various floors of his house and locating a well in the cellar, into which the globules of molten lead dropped and were instantly cooled and hardened. Watts secured a patent in 1782 and sold his London rights in 1800 for $48,000.

His tower is still in use, although it has been heightened by the addition of several stories. The lead when molten is poured into a sieve-like receptacle at the top of the tower, and these molten drops, falling into the well, 120 feet deep, form the shot, which are then passed through a polishing grader. They are then spilled from a hopper on to an inclined plane, the perfect shot running on a second plane, while the imperfect drop through an opening between. The shot pass over four series of planes, and only the perfect reach the last plane.

A larger size than BBB cannot be made by this process. The larger sizes, including shrapnel, are made by two different processes. In the medium size a wire of the proper material is fed into a machine which mashes it into a ribbon shape and punches irregular formed shot. The largest are made by pouring the metal into long bullet molds, which, in cooling, form irregular shot. The various sizes are then placed, each by itself, in guns, which are revolved for six hours, when the shot come out perfectly smooth spheres.—Boston Globe.

Bronchitis Conquered

Seventy Years Old and Praised Wonderful HYOMEI

I had a severe attack of La Grippe. It left me with bronchitis and catarrh of my throat. I became quite deaf in one ear so I could not hear a watch tick. I commenced using your HYOMEI and inhaler and soon got relief, and believe that it saved my life. I have recommended it to many. I am over seventy years old. SEARCHING RUINS FOR AUSTIN DEAD

500 Men Working to Recover Bodies From Wreckage.

DEATH LIST UNDER 100

Thirty-six Bodies Have Been Found and Fifty-four Persons Are Reported Missing—Dr. Dixon Appeals For Food For Survivors.

Austin, Pa., Oct. 4.—It looks as though the lid would be really lifted from the scandal of the Bayless dam and the story told of how the dwellers in the Sinnemahoning valley, before their homes were given over to flood and fire, lived in constant dread of the ill-constructed concrete barrier that for two years alone intervened between them and death and ruin.

Harry W. Nelson, of Coudersport, the district attorney of Potter county, said that he would exercise the power of a coroner and would hold an inquest on Friday at Austin, which would be tantamount to a searching investigation of the causes which led up to the breaking of the dam.

Governor Tener at Scene.

Governor Tener is here to personally inspect the broken dam and the five miles of valley over which the wreckage of two towns was suddenly spilled last Saturday.

While the state and county authorities are preparing to summon expert engineers and others whose attention before and after the flood has been directed to the faulty construction of the dam, Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, the state health commissioner, and his associates are confronted with a grave problem of their own for which they are bending every effort to find a solution.

Starvation stares the 500 families that the state authorities are trying to care for in the face, for Dr. Dixon plainly stated that unless food supplies soon begin to arrive it will be impossible to feed the homeless men, women and children that have been suddenly thrust upon the mercies of the commonwealth.

The cry for food is going up from Austin, and with less than $10,000 contributed, Dr. Dixon declared that the situation had become so serious that something must soon be done if hunger is not to add to the sufferings of the survivors.

Philadelphia sent word that $5000 had been raised and was on the way. Dubois, Pa., sent 150 volunteers and 200 laborers, while Wellsboro, Pa., raised $2200 in a few hours and dispatched the cash in an automobile. The cash is needed largely in transporting the afflicted to friends and relatives in other parts of the country.

Thirty-six Bodies Found.

A force of 500 men are at work clearing the ruins of Austin. Seven more bodies, a charred skull counting as one, were dug from the ruins, making a total of thirty-six bodies recovered since the rescue work started on Sunday morning. A total of eighteen was discovered on Monday, while Sunday's search yielded seven. The missing are placed at fifty-four.

The flooded district showed that 167 homes had been washed out and wiped away, with sixty-four stores, four hotels, five churches, five factories and the shops of the Buffalo & Susquehanna railroad.

Advices also were received from Costello, Pa., that no immediate help was needed there, that the community has several warehouses filled with supplies, plenty of money, but that clothing for women and children was needed. Dr. Dixon will take steps to furnish these necessities and also will send men to aid in the restoration of the town if asked.

Four Bodies Uncovered.

A large steam log roller was used in the attack on the wreckage along the tracks of the Buffalo & Susquehanna railroad, and a lane had been cleared so that trains may be run and the debris carted away. Beneath one building three bodies were found. They are those of a mother, infant and a child about five years old. All were terribly mutilated.

One body was recovered and identified as Mrs. Preston Wolcott. A charred skull also was recovered, but it was in such condition that it was impossible to determine whether it was that of an adult or an infant.

The body of a woman that had been at the morgue for two days was identified as that of Mrs. McCollins, a sister of State Senator F. E. Baldwin, whose father's body was one of the first recovered on Sunday.

Three Subpoena Servers Killed.

Middlesboro, Ky., Oct. 4.—In an attempt to subpoena witnesses wanted in a murder trial at Gibson Station, Va., two sons of James Collins were killed and the father fatally wounded. The subpoenaeers were to have been served on women whose names have not been learned. The officers met resistance, and when they attempted to force their way into the homes of the women they were shot.

Antwerp, Oct. 4.—Two hundred and forty lives are known to have been lost in coasting craft during the storm of last Sunday. More than 100 bodies have been washed ashore.

OUST McCABE IN PURE FOOD FIGHT

Solicitor Retired Because He Antagonized Wiley.

Washington, Oct. 4.—In a sudden succession of orders, an initial move in the expected reorganization of the department of agriculture, Solicitor George P. McCabe was retired from the pure food and drug board; Associate Chemist F. L. Dunlap, closely identified with McCabe, was allowed a leave of absence until the president's return, and Chemist Harvey W. Wiley was left apparently in supreme command of the board. Dr. R. E. Doolittle, of New York, was temporarily appointed to the board to succeed McCabe.

These changes were announced by Secretary Wilson, following a conference with Dr. Wiley, who has been on a long vacation. They were deemed inevitable in view of the official and personal antagonism aired before a congressional committee the past summer and Dr. Wiley's exoneration by President Taft, after Attorney General Wickersham, with views aligned with those of Secretary Wilson and Solicitor McCabe, had recommended Dr. Wiley's removal from office as head of the chemistry bureau because of a technical irregularity in appointive methods, the responsibility for which he denied.

The pure food and drug board in the agency which passes upon many important cases arising under the enforcement of the pure food law. Dr. Wiley declared that he was usually outvoted and made a number of sensational statements in the investigation of the controversy. Smarting under the frequent overruling of his views, wherein he held food products deleterious to health, he told a congressional committee that he regarded his associate, Dr. Dunlap, as his superior officer.

FIRE IN COAL MINE

Four Men Rescued After Being Perished In Shaft.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 4.—Fire destroyed the East Boston breaker of the W. G. Payne Coal company, at Luzerne borough, near here, and cut off the escape up the main shaft of four pumpmen working on the night shift in the mine.

A force of rescuers was sent into the Haddock colliery adjoining the East Boston to make an effort to break through to rescue the four pumpmen and fight the fire from the bottom of the shaft.

The pumpmen after some hours of suspense emerged by way of the air shaft opening, while the force of rescuers is now engaged in fighting the fire at the bottom of the shaft to prevent its spreading through the mine. Twelve hundred men have been put out of work.

THE OLD TIME DOCTOR.

His Hardships Were Many, and His Rewards Were Not Great.

The strongest impression gained in reading of the experiences of old time physicians is of their boldness and daring. Most of them were by necessity surgeons as well as doctors of medicine. Isolated often from other members of their profession and obliged to bear the entire responsibility of the welfare of their patients, they learned to rely upon themselves and to take chances that would make the general practitioner shudder in these days of many specialists and wide division of labor. Perhaps none ever undertook surgical operations who had no training in that line, but with no hospitals within reach, with few instruments and with the modern antiseptics and nursing systems undreamed of, they ventured to use the knife in critical cases and, as it appears, with a large measure of success.

They were faithful, hardworking servants of the public in the early day. They traveled by horseback over trails that took them through forests and swamps and across streams. Their field of practice often included a large territory, and they were necessarily out in all sorts of weather and encountered hardships of various kinds. Nor were the rewards great. Few of those old time doctors accumulated wealth, some of them not even a competence for old age. But it is easy to see that they were a force in the community and had much to do with the general development of the state.—Indianapolis Star.

THE BUFFALO BUR.

The botanical departments of many experiment stations have had specimens of the buffalo bur submitted to them this season for identification. The plant is of about the same size and habit of growth as the cocklebur, has a divided leaf much like the water-hemlock and a yellow blossom, while leaves, stems and fruit pods are covered with long, ugly looking spines or needles. The writer saw a specimen of this weed the other day and noticed another interesting thing about the plant—that it has an odor exactly like a string of freshly caught bullheads. The seeds of this plant are scattered in the wool of western sheep, in the litter falling from freight cars in which sheep are carried and chick feed bought at country stores. The plant is an annual and is easily held in check by cultivation.

Twice Convicted.

Another lawyer's story arrives. We are told that a man was charged with picking a pocket the other day and that when arraigned he pleaded guilty. The case went to the jury, however, and the verdict was not guilty. And the court spoke as follows: "You don't leave this court without a stain on your character. By your own confession you are a thief. By the verdict of the jury you are a liar."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ITALIAN FLEET FIRES ON TRIPOLI

Bombardment Begun After Three Days Grace Expired.

BESIEGED CITY IS EMPTY

Censorship Is Strict and Real Facts Are Hidden—Garrison Expected to Make Little Resistance.

Malta, Island of Malta, Oct. 4.—The Italian fleet bombarded Tripoli, opening fire when the three days' grace granted to the garrison on Saturday in which to haul down the Turkish flag expired.

It was reported by wireless that passing ships at sea could easily distinguish the heavy roar of artillery fire from the battleships.

While no details are available, it was a foregone conclusion that the Turks would offer little or no resistance to the fire from the heavy guns of the steel armored battleships—the most powerful of the Italian navy. It was the plan of the Italians to concentrate the fire upon the Turkish defenses where the antique three-inch Krupp guns were mounted in the old Turkish fortress could make no return to the fire Italy's great modern cannon made.

A private message received at Glasgow, Scotland, from Jerba, an island off Tunis, says:

"A heliograph message from Tripoli says that the bombardment has begun. The ships are bombarding several places. The inhabitants are leaving."

Wireless messages were received at Rome from the Italian fleet off Tripoli. They state that the city is now practically deserted except for the Turkish garrison. The only Italians remaining are the apostolic delegate and a few Franciscan monks, who refused to depart.

The natives have retired to the interior, transporting with caravans of camels 5000 old Mauser rifles, reloaded from the Turkish military authorities and 12,000 Mausers which were landed by the Turkish transport Dorna. The plan adopted, evidently, is to arm the Arab tribes of the interior for a guerrilla warfare against the Italians.

The correspondents were under the strictest censorship, and were not permitted to disclose the names of the blockading ships or the military movements.

Turkish soldiers were guarding the Italian consulate and the Italian business houses. When the last of the Italian colonists left the consulate on Saturday, where they had spent the night under the protection of the German flag, the streets were strongly lined with Turkish troops. Crowds of natives assembled and hooted and jeered angrily. There were evidences of violent rage on the part of the Arabs, and the soldiers prevented a possible massacre. The German consul escorted the refugees to the boats.

Immediately the refugees left the shore a boat from one of the cruisers took an officer ashore, who notified the authorities that the blockade would begin at noon and the bombardment three days later.

The bombardment will not necessarily block the peace movement, for the basis on which Italy will treat with Turkey is the accomplished fact of Italy's occupation of Tripoli.

That this is Italy's plan is shown by the statement issued by the Italian embassy at Paris. It is as follows:

"Mediation by the powers between Italy and Turkey is mentioned by the French and foreign newspapers. No declaration in this regard has been made by the royal government which is resting upon the logic of events. It cannot speak of mediation or negotiations until after Turkey shall have recognized the occupation of Tripoli by Italy."

Turkey, it is believed, will make only a show at resistance on account of the fanaticism of her people.

Both nations seem willing enough to call it quits before blood is shed, or they get into trouble with other nations.

Italians Capture Turkish Warship.

Taranto, Italy, Oct. 4.—The Italian cruiser Marco Polo has captured a Turkish warship, with a general, 200 troops, 200 horses, 5000 rifles and a large quantity of ammunition aboard.

Shoots Husband and Then Herself.

New York, Oct. 4.—Mrs. Frank J. Nicodemus shot her husband twice when she met him on the street, then turned the pistol and fired a bullet over her heart. The couple, both under twenty-five years of age, separated a short time ago and the wife had just been served with papers in a divorce suit. Both probably will die.

Went Hunting: Stayed Thirty Years.

Bellefontaine, O., Oct. 4.—After being missing for thirty years and given up as dead, Rufus Heisler walked into his parents' home at West Mansfield. He has become wealthy as a ranch owner in California. He gave no reason for his sudden disappearance. He left home thirty years ago to go squirrel hunting and then disappeared.

Quaker Cemetery In Prospect Park.

There is a Quaker cemetery in Prospect park west, Brooklyn. The cemetery is much older than the park, and when the park was organized it was done with the understanding that the Friends' burying ground was not to be disturbed. The pact will probably always be kept. The cemetery covers several acres—say, from eight to ten—and is beautifully situated on one of the most commanding hills in the park. It is still used for burial purposes.—New York American

The Liberty-Brush

Your Hope of Owning a Motor Car May Now Come True

HERE is a real automobile selling at a price which Everyman can afford. It is a car which constitutes a declaration of independence for every family, for business men, for companies. It finally frees the horse.

The $350 Liberty-Brush is the result of long experience in building motor cars of this type, coupled with the ability of a great corporation to purchase materials in large quantities and to manufacture in prodigious numbers. It is marking epochs in the automobile industry and in transportation annals, for it is the response of a standard manufacturer to the demand for a motor car that any man can buy and maintain.

The new Liberty-Brush car means for you:

- Freedom from crowded street cars and the discomforts and delays of street car travel.
- Freedom from the necessity of catching trains or waiting for connections—a freedom from commuting.
- Freedom from failure to keep appointments, loss of time in traveling from one customer to another and consequent loss of money.
- Freedom from the horse. It lessens time and distance, it increases the pleasure and health of your family and is a rest after a day of hard work.
- Everybody has wanted an automobile, and has waited for the time when one would be within the reach of moderate incomes. The Liberty-Brush fills this desire. Not only is its initial cost small, but also the maintenance costs are little—that is cheaper than a horse. Beyond this there is no comparison.
- The Liberty-Brush is built along standard lines, with a long-stroke vertical motor of 10-horsepower. Its other features are as equally up-to-date, as you anywhere and in amazingly short time.

can readily see upon inspection. It is built by the United States Motor Company—the largest makers of high-grade motor cars in the world, and is made possible by the willingness of the manufacturers to take a ridiculously small profit. Thus thousands of people who otherwise plod along with horses will fly through the country with their own cars.

The Liberty-Brush is the car for Salesmen, Solicitors, Canvassers, Collectors, R. F. D. Carriers, Physicians and every one who must move quickly from place to place. Mercantile concerns will see in this car an opportunity to widen the territory and increase the earnings of their representatives.

We represent the Liberty-Brush and invite everybody to come and see this wonderful car for $350. Ask us questions about its construction, about its performance, about its uses. Take a ride in it and let us explain to you how the United States Motor Company cares for its cars wherever they are. If you cannot come to us, let us come to you—no matter how far, the Liberty-Brush will go.

THE TREATMENT FOR AZOTURIA.

Azoturia is a very peculiar affection of the horse, in which the animal shows a special form of lameness upon exercise, after having remained idle for a day or two, writes Dr. G. A. Roberts in American Agriculturist. The cause is not definitely known, and yet the circumstances under which the disease develops are rather constant, such, for instance, as an animal in vigorous condition, fed liberally upon nitrogenous feed, remaining idle over Sunday, a holiday, or at other times.

Upon being taken out the following morning the animal usually shows an excess of energy, but before going far begins to go lame in one or both hind

Years ago when the hackney was chiefly in the hands of wealthy amateurs he was ridiculed by partisans of the trotter as an animal that could only show on the line and even in that way for a very limited time. He has proved the contrary and has also proved that he is the superior of any breed of horse living where style, form, action and good disposition are factors. The handsome mare with colt at side is Silefield Venus. She is owned by Reginald Vanderbilt and was a prize winner at the New York state fair.

limbs until, if urged further, becomes completely paralyzed behind, going down and unable to rise. He also shows considerable pain, as though he might be suffering from some form of colic, with a profuse sweating. On reaching this point the animal usually ceases to void the urine, which, when drawn, appears a very dark brown or coffee color. The pulse and breathing are somewhat accelerated, and frequently there is considerable nervous excitement. The muscles of the loin and thigh are tense and rigid.

The treatment should begin as soon as the lameness shows itself. After a few hours of rest, the distress will be over. The more exercise given the animal after the lameness begins, the more severe the trouble, and the more energetic means of treatment required. In a case showing signs of nervous excitement, it should receive two tablespoonfuls of bromide of potassium every three or four hours until becoming quiet. Sweating should be induced by blanketing wrung out of hot water and covered with a dry one. Allow all the water the animal will drink and give it four tablespoonfuls sweet spirits of niter three times a day if bladder is not paralyzed. If unable to void the urine, the bladder must be emptied three times daily. A laxative or purgative should be given early in the disease. If the animal remains somewhat stiff, give a teaspoonful in the feed twice a day of the following: Powdered nux vomica, four teaspoonfuls; powdered sulphate of iron, six teaspoonfuls; powdered gentian root, six teaspoonfuls.

Pure Breds Pay Best.

The farm should have on it all the good stock it will keep and the help you have can give the proper care. The well bred, profitable kind of horses will do the same work—except more of it—that the scrubs are now doing. It is just as cheap and much more profitable to have pure bred beef cattle instead of common stuff. If you are milking a few cows and selling the cream you can have, if you will, cows which produce five or six times as much milk as scrubs. You can have pure bred hogs which make pork cheaper than scrubs, and you can sell a sow or a boar for breeding purposes. A few sheep will help things alone. Not one of these improved kinds of live stock will in any way prevent or interfere with the growing of wheat or corn for market which may just now have your undivided attention. Think this over. Resolve to get a few animals of better than common stock next year. The good ones increase rapidly and soon you'll have all you can keep.

The Fall Fresh Cow.

Fall fresh cows will, as a rule, yield from 10 per cent to 15 per cent more milk annually than those calving in the spring. Spring fresh cows give their highest flow of milk during the busy season and when the price of milk and butter is lowest. On the other hand, the fall fresh cow gives her highest flow when the prices are highest, and if managed right will keep up a good flow in the spring. Then, too, the fall fresh cow does not have to contend with the flies and hot weather.

Her Husband's Letters

By HELOISE BRAYTON

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Edward Ballinger and his bride had just returned from their honeymoon and settled back into ordinary life. Though it was ordinary life, it was changed life. There was the difference between the single and the married state, which is a very great difference. Instead of remaining two individuals, they were to begin fusing into one double person. Those matters in which a married couple must be welded are innumerable. This story illustrates but one of them.

On returning from his office at evening on the day after his return from his wedding trip the young husband found that the postman had left several letters for him, all of which had been opened by his wife. He repressed any expression of the slight shock he felt and, taking up the letters, read them. They were mostly from old chums, who, knowing of his arrival, welcomed him back, some waxing facetious on his altered condition. One was from Mortimer Smith, Mr. Ballinger's most intimate married friend.

"Ned," said Mrs. Ballinger, "I don't see why your chum, Mr. Smith, should attack me in that way."

"What way?"

"Why," he says, "your deaf ear will come in handy. When she gives you a curtain lecture in bed all you have to do is to bury your well ear in the pillow and you won't hear her."

Mr. Ballinger was puzzled. He understood the pleasantry of his friend's remark perfectly. Mrs. Ballinger understood only its unpleasantness. He knew that an explanation would be hopeless. He didn't attempt one. He concluded rather to use the incident to break up in the beginning his wife's opening his letters.

"The remark was not intended for you," he said, "and you should not have seen it. Old friends, especially men, understand each other and what they say should be held in confidence. If you had not opened his letter you would not have read what he said and would not have been irritated by it."

Mrs. Ballinger thought a bit before replying. "Don't you think that a wife has a right to know what her husband's friends think of her?"

Nothing is so irritating as to be obliged to argue with one who starts with an incorrect assumption. Though Mr. Ballinger controlled himself, he erred in being led into an attempted explanation. After ten or fifteen years of married life he would have taken his friend's advice and covered his well ear.

"You see, my dear, that Smith, who is a good deal of a joker, has had a long experience in married life and knows—"

"Is Mrs. Smith a vixen?"

"Not at all. Mrs. Smith is a very lovely woman."

"Oh! Then it is Mr. Smith who makes all the trouble in the family."

"There is no trouble in the family."

"Do you mean to tell me that there is no trouble in a family when the husband is obliged to cover up his well ear to escape what his wife has to say to him?"

"But, my dear, you don't understand. I don't know a more united couple than Mort Smith and his wife."

"If I don't see how a couple can be united when the husband has to cover up the only ear by which he can hear to escape what his wife has to say to him. I suppose he irritated her beyond endurance."

"You are attaching an importance to a trifle that does not belong to it, putting a matter of fact construction upon it. Mort was not referring to you especially, but to women generally."

"Oh, I suppose he's one of those men called women haters who think that everything bad comes from women. I have no patience with such men."

Mr. Ballinger's self control began to give way. "You haven't it in you to understand this matter," he said, "and it shouldn't have come up before you. It's your own fault. Had you respected my correspondence you would not have read that which you can't fathom. In future you will oblige me by leaving my mail untouched."

These were the first harsh words Mr. Ballinger had ever spoken to his newly made wife. He had scarcely uttered them when he saw a tear gathering in her eye. She said nothing more. Indeed, it was all she could do to pen up her feelings. Ballinger tore into the wastebasket. His wife went out of the room, putting her handkerchief to her eyes at the same time.

The newly made husband had learned his first lesson in married life. He had learned that the logic laid down by Bishop Whately and more recent writers on the science would not do for home use. He followed his wife, and his arms around her and kissed away her tears.

"You have been very wicked," she said.

"Forgive me. I'll never do it again."

And the first matrimonial quarrel was over.

But the wife's opening of her husband's letters continued.

Here are two letters she never saw one from her husband to his friend Smith and his reply:

"Mort, you are a fool to send such a letter to my house as the one just received. One would suppose a married man would have more sense."

"Ned, I admit the impeachment. I never do it again. Lunch with me to-morrow."

A Matter of Economy.

"But why do you wish to have a running account at the department store?" asked the husband. "Do you think it saves you anything?"

"Of course it does, you silly thing. Isn't that just like a man? It saves me more than you can imagine," answered the wife in a breath.

"But what does it save?"

"Time. I don't have to stop and ask the price of anything I want to buy."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Only Sober Men Wanted

Every time of business is closing its doors to "drinking" men. If you are a drinking man, it may be your time next. Better stop drinking at once. Orlene, the standard remedy for the liquor habit, will help you. By the aid of Orlene thousands of men have been restored to lives of sobriety and industry.

We are so sure that Orlene will benefit you that we say to you that if after a trial you fail to get any benefit from its use, your money will be refunded.

Orlene is prepared in two forms: No. 1, secret treatment, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given secretly in food or drink; Orlene No. 2, in pill form, is for those who desire to take voluntary treatment. Orlene costs only $1 a box. If you are interested in some one who drinks you owe it to yourself to come to our store and get free booklet and information. RESTORE GRAY HAIR TO NATURAL COLOR

By Common Garden Sage, a Simple Remedy for Dandruff, Falling, Faded, Gray Hair.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy, and gradually restored the natural color.

One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days, on account of souring quickly. This objection has been overcome, and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair, but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow.

Get a bottle from your druggist today. Use it and see for yourself how quickly dandruff goes and gray hairs vanish.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agent People's Drug Store.

Washing the Churn.

Before churning the churn should be scalded and then well chilled with cold water. This will not cause the temperature of the cream to rise, and it will close the pores of the churn so that the butter will not stick to the wood.

FIGHT OFF WORRY.

Don't Waste Nervous Strength and Energy In Useless Fretting.

The immediate cause of neuralgia is poison in the blood; therefore our object is to keep the blood pure and healthy, as it is only when the blood is poor that the neuralgia poisons develop in it. Poor blood is caused by lack of sleep, lack of fresh air, improper food and overfatigue, by too little exercise and by mental worry.

Nothing is easier to say than "Don't worry" and few things so difficult to carry out. But by "Don't worry" the doctors mean do not waste valuable nervous strength and energy in fretting over things beyond your control. Make a point of putting all anxiety from you during meals and above all when you go to bed. Train yourself to think of something cheerful as you try to go to sleep; otherwise your sleep will be harassed and fitful and will do you very little good.

He was a wise man who made it a rule to think of nothing disagreeable after 10 o'clock at night. He at any rate could never have been a victim to neuralgia.

Keep up the general tone of the nervous system and you will have little difficulty in keeping off nervous ailments, notably neuralgia.—London Mail.

Her Beautiful Hair.

"Maybelle, your girl friend has beautiful hair."

"It will pass, Tom."

"Why do you girls hate to admit that another girl has fine points?"

"In that case it wouldn't do to appear too enthusiastic. I lent her that hair."—Kansas City Journal.
